Bradden Bunch is an Accounting Associate with Phillips & Company. He's responsible for all aspects of Phillips & Company's account including payroll, financials, commissions, accounts payable, and accounts receivable. Bradden assists in yearly financial audits and tax preparations, as well as controls costs and ensures the firm is receiving the best pricing and services.

Bradden began his career working in hospitality management for sixteen years. He was the Accounting Manager at two of the largest luxurious chains the hospitality industry and was awarded many recognitions for client satisfaction and growth.

Bradden recently decided that he was ready to take on new career goals and wanted to get back to his first love of accounting. After working for a law firm, two school districts, and a transportation company as a temporary replacement, he decided it was time to settle into a role which utilized his full skillset, and that's when he found a home here at Phillips & Company.

Outside of the office, Bradden loves playing board games, being outdoors, golfing, hiking, camping, and is a very loyal fan of the Oregon Ducks, Trailblazers, and Timbers. He's also a big fan of the beach and tries to visit as much as possible. He's also very devoted to his family and friends.

He graduated from Clackamas Community College with an undergraduate degree in Accounting.
